Johnny Moore

FORMER NBA STAR JOHNNY MOORE NAMED HEAD COACH OF THE NEW ABA UNIVERSAL CITY, TX SERAPHIM™ BASKETBALL TEAM

Johnny Moore played a total of 10 years in the NBA, all of which were with the San Antonio Spurs. When he finished his NBA career, he was the all- time assist leader in Spurs history, handing out 3,865 assists while appearing in 519 games. He averaged 9.4 points, 7.4 assists and 3.0 rebounds per game. Johnny's best season was during the 1984-1985 NBA season, where he averaged 12.8 points, 10 assists, 4.8 rebounds and 2.79 steals in 82 games.

Johnny Moore had his number (00) retired by the San Antonio Spurs, joining an elite group of former players including Avery Johnson, Bruce Bowen, David Robinson, George Gervin, James Silas and Sean Elliott.

Johnny played four seasons at the University of Texas, and was twice named to the All-Southwest Conference First Team. He led the SWC in assists during two different seasons, and holds the record for the most assists in a single game by a SWC player. During the 1978-79 season, he handed out 19 assists in two different games. In his junior year, Texas won the NIT and Johnny was named the tournament MVP.

Johnny has been dedicated to serving youth and improving the San Antonio community, since joining the San Antonio Spurs Community Relations team in 1993. He has worked with BCFS on after-school and community outreach programs. Johnny looks forward to becoming an integral part of the Universal City community, and is already planning to host youth basketball camps and clinics in the Tri-City area.
